Memorial Book

In Loving Memory of

Brandon Tyler Beshada

(March 21, 1982 - April 1, 2007)

When tomorrow starts without me, and I'm not there to see; If the sun should rise and find your eyes, all filled with tears for me; I wish so much you wouldn't cry, the way you did today, while thinking of the many things, we didn't get to say. I know how much you love me, as much as I love you, and each time that you think of me, I know you'll miss me too; But when tomorrow starts without me, please try to understand, that an Angel came and called my name, and took me by the hand, and said my place was ready, in heaven far above, and that I'd have to leave behind, all those I dearly love. But as I turned to walk away, a tear fell from my eye, for all my life, I'd always thought, I didn't want to die. I had so much to live for, so much yet to do, it seemed almost impossible, that I was leaving you. I thought of all the yesterdays, the good ones and the bad, I thought of all the love we shared, and all the fun we had. If I could relive yesterday, just even for awhile, I'd say goodbye and kiss you and maybe see non smile But then I fully realized that this would take the place of me. And when I thought of worldly things, I might miss come tomorrow, I thought of you, and when I did, my heart was filled with sorrow. But when I walked through heaven's gates, I felt so much at home. When God looked down and smiled at me, from His great golden throne, He said, "This is eternity, and all I've promised you". Today for life on earth is past, but here it starts anew. I promise no tomorrow, but today will always last, and since each day's the same day, there's no longing for the past. But you have been so faithful, so trusting and so true. Though there were times you did some things, you knew you shouldn't do. But you have been forgiven and now at last you're free. So won't you take my hand and share my life with me? So when tomorrow starts without me, don't think we're far apart, for every time you think of me, I'm right here, in your heart.

This memorial website was created to remember and honor my precious son, Brandon Tyler Beshada, who was born in Newton, NJ on March 21, 1982. Brandon received his Heavenly Angel Wings on April 1, 2007 when he passed in his sleep at home in Centreville, Virginia.

You will live forever in my heart. I Love You and Miss You so very much Sweet Angel - Forever Loving You - Mom

Thank you for taking the time to visit Brandon's website - please take a moment to learn more about my precious son, to look at his photos, light a candle, write a condolence or share a memory, it would mean so very much to me.

Hugs and Prayers - Sandy, Forever Brandon's Mom

TO MY FAMILY & FRIENDS

This is my pain.

Let me feel it.

Don't tell me not to cry.

I know you mean well, dear friend.

But telling me not to cry,

Tells me you don't understand.

But, how could you, really?

Have you lost a child?

Have you given birth, loved and laughed,

And then watched him die?

This is my pain.

Let me feel it.

Be patient with me when I want to scream

to cry

or be crabby

or talk about him

or be alone.

This is my pain.

Let me feel it.

I know you'd take it all away,

if you could.

But you can't.

I can't avoid it,

Or stuff it down somewhere,

Or run away from it

Because it always finds me again.

The cold, hard fact is,

That I have a child that died,

and it hurts.

So I know, that this is my pain,

And I have to feel it.

To get through it.

This poem, although not written by me, expresses exactly how I feel and what I wish from you- Sandy, Forever Brandon's Mom

Earth Angel

September 10, 2008

Brandon,

As you are now an Angel in Heaven I thought you would be the perfect person to come to. Please send your mom an Earth Angel. Someone to understand, hold her while she cries, someone to just let her grieve you.

She misses you Brandon, she misses you deep down to the core of her being and she will for the rest of her life. When we have children, it fills up a space in our heart and our soul. When she lost you, she lost a piece of her heart and soul. She can fill a small area in the void left behind, but she can never gets those pieces back. Those pieces, you took to Heaven with you filled with her love.

She talks about you alot and I feel like I know you so well. She did a great job raising you into a fine young man. I know you are proud of the hard work that she did to give you such a wonderful life. And like you, we are very proud of the work she has done since you left.

But she needs someone that she can connect with in person. Someone that understands and will give her that hug she needs and tell her to cry all she wants, it will be okay. She is a really special person to us all that have gotten to know her and love her.

Thanks in advance for your help. I know that you only want whats best for your mom, as you always have. Give my Anthony Paul my love the next time he breezes by you as I am sure he is just as active up there as he was down here.

I am keeping you, Anthony Paul and all our Earth Angels in my prayers, Love, Natalie, Anthony Paul's mom forever

Sending Hugs to You Sandy & Your Sweet Son Brandon

August 19, 2008

My thoughts and prayers are will all who love and miss Brandon, especially his very loving and devoted Mom. I came across your precious angel's site by accident after a spelling error, although now I think I was lead here perhaps by our two boys. Brandon was certianally a very handsome young man, he captured my heart and I can tell clearly how much he is loved by the many heart touching memories, candles, condolences and poems. This page is an amazing tribute to your precious Son which ensures that his memories will live forever.

My heart broke when I read Brandon's life story and I could not contain my tears the ending sounded so very familiar.

To Brandon's mom my heart goes out to you, I found myself in a very similar situation, My son had returned home not feeling well and asked me to check on him. Just like you my Troy was snoring so I naturally assumed he was sleeping. When I returned a while later I knew there was something wrong, I tried frantically to revive my Son until the ambulance arrived. He had an aneurysm. It is so very hard and I often wonder and like you so many what if's, I blame myself although I know its not my fault there was nothing I could do. The only comfort I have is knowing that my precious Son got his angle wings at home.

I wish that there where some words I could say to ease your heartache, I feel your pain every day, I pray that you find some comfort knowing that others care and will remember your handsome angel.

God Bless you Sandy and Brandon

February 29, 2008

Sandy, I hope this comforts you just a little.

When I am gone, release me, let me go.

I have so many things to see and do, You mustn't tie yourself to me with too many tears,

But be thankful we had so many good years.

I gave you my love, and you can only guess How much you've given me in happiness. I thank you for the love that you have shown, But now it is time I traveled on alone.

So grieve for me a while, if grieve you must Then let your grief be comforted by trust That it is only for a while that we must part, So treasure the memories within your heart.

I won't be far away for life goes on.

And if you need me, call and I will come.

Though you can't see or touch me, I will be near And if you listen with your heart, you'll hear All my love around you soft and clear

And then, when you come this way alone, I'll greet you with a smile and a "Welcome Home".

Angel Brandon,

Please visit your broken-hearted mom in her dreams. Let your love light the way as she must continue on this dark journey without you. Allow her to see visions of happy times in the falling snow as she searches for you at the window. She misses you so much and often must grieve for you alone. And though, she will never understand or get over your leaving, she will keep loving you and honoring your memory. Send her lots of signs and lot of Angel kisses.

A Bereaved Parent's Wish List

December 20, 2007

A Bereaved Parent's Wish List

"I wish that Brandon had never died"

I wish you wouldn't be afraid to speak Brandon's name. My son lived and was very important to me. I need to hear that he was important to you also.

If I cry and get emotional when you talk about Brandon, I wish you knew that it isn't because you have hurt me. Brandon's death is the cause of my tears. You have talked about Brandon and you have allowed me to share my grief. I thank you for both.

Being a bereaved parent is not contagious, so I wish you wouldn't shy away from me. I need you now more than ever.

I need diversions, so I do want to hear about you, but I also want you to hear about me. I might be sad and I might cry, but I wish you would let me talk about Brandon.

I know that you think of and pray for me often. I also know that Brandon's death pains you too. I wish you would let me know these things through a phone call, a card, a note, or a real big hug.

I wish you wouldn't expect my grief to be over. These first years are going to be traumatic for me, but I wish you could understand that my grief will never be over. I will suffer the death of my son until the day I die. My grief will just change.

I am working hard in my recovery, but I wish you could understand that I will never fully recover. I will always miss Brandon and I will always grieve that he is gone.

I wish you wouldn't expect me "not to think about it" or "be happy". Neither will happen for a very long time.

I wish you understood how my life has been shattered. I know it is miserable for you to be around me when I'm feeling miserable.

When I say, "I'm doing okay", I wish you could understand that I don't "feel" okay, and that I struggle daily.

I wish you knew that all of the grief reactions I'm having are very normal. Depression, anger, hopelessness and overwhelming sadness are all to be expected. So please excuse me when I'm quiet and withdrawn or irritable and cranky.

Your advice to "take it one day at a time" is excellent advice.

However, a day is too much and too fast for me right now. I wish you could understand that I'm doing good to handle an hour at a time.

Please excuse me if I seem rude, it's certainly not my intent. Sometimes the world around me goes too fast. When I walk away, I wish you would let me find a quiet place to spend time alone.

I wish you understood that grief changes people. When Brandon died, a big part of me died with him.

I am not the same person I was before Brandon died and I will never be that person again!

I wish very much that you could understand ~ understand my loss, my grief and my pain.

But....

I pray daily that you will never understand!

Dear GOD

May I Be Excused

December 6, 2007

May I Be Excused

Dear God, May I be excused just for the day from the lessons of life in this huge classroom where we live and learn?

I am finding the lessons of this earth too hard to learn.

Just for the day, can I stop to rest in a quiet place and lay down my head.

As you know, I have lost my son, and the role is too hard for me to play on this day, the words spoken are false my face is a mask, and my smiles are fake. The only truth I see is love, and that I find hard to see today

So please, God
may I have this day
just for me
no worries
no lessons
no pain
just my inner peace that's been missing for some time.

Please God may I be excused. Just for the day?

Praying for you

December 2, 2007

Dear Sandy: This road of grief is hard, long, filled with potholes and treacherous. We travel it because we have no choice. I do believer our sons are still here with us. We just can't see them. Geoff sends me signs and it helps so much. I didn't get those signs until my brain and heart and soul were ready to accept them. Our grieve causes us to "short circuit" and we are so devastated we can't do anything. Sometimes, getting out of bed is the best I can do. You are in my prayers. May God bless and comfort you.

An old friend

November 29, 2007

Brandon,

I didn't really know you, as I sit here with tears in my eyes reading these pages, I feel I really did know you.

I knew your family, they are all kind and loving, and were all very blessed to have you in their lives.

Your mom is very special and will always have a place in my heart.

Sandy, I am so sorry for your tremendous loss. Your son was, or shall I say is a very handsome man. I know you had to raise him for the most part on your own, at least in his younger years, I have to say you are an inspiration and a tower of strength. The love you two shared is obvious.

As I sit and watch the slide show, I think back at all the wonderful memories, I can see you with your big belly, and how proud you were to be a mommy, I know over time we have grown apart, but our memories will never fade, nor will yours of Brandon. Your a very strong woman, and I'm proud that you were once in my life.

Always,

Brandon's Voice

November 25, 2007

Hello Sandy,

How wonderful to hear Brandon's voice. I have to admit it took me awhile to figure it out, but finially my brain understood. I admire the fact that you can listen to Brandon's voice. It has been since April 13, 2004 and I still will not watch a video of Kanda, do not want to hear her voice for fear I won't be able to stand it, maybe someday. My husband watched a video with her in it the day after she died and I thought I was going to have a come apart even though, while laying in bed, all I could hear was her voice.

Sorry also, I lit a candle and messed up my signature, don't know what I did.

Thank you for sharing Brandon's voice with all of us and Bless You and You Family. I know how tough the first Thansgiving is without your precious son, I remember very well. I don't know that I can say the 4th is any easier, but maybe acceptance it the word I am looking for as the 4th Thanksgiving has come around for our family.

My dearest hugs to you, Blessed Friend

Kanda's Mom4ever, Kanda4ever 30 years old

Dear Sandy,

I relate with you, I too have to carry this pain alone. My family and his dads side just doesn't care. Just another day, if not an imposition to take time for the funeral. So unfair for the most precious and beautiful boy that ever lived. I am not exaggerating, but I am sure you understand. Garett had so much life and love for everything he did from the day he was born. I also lost him this year in August. I too spent the holiday alone, without him they just don't seem real. I made it through yesterday, now if only I can get past Christmas. Please know I will keep you in my prayers as I know how hard this is for you. my email address is pcoffey55@yahoo.com. Our Nightmares

November 23, 2007

I did not realize that you and I both found our children, I finding my duaghter, my Kanda drowned in her bath tub, later ruled due to a seizure which I found out later, was brought on from the diet pills she had taken off and on,

Stakers with ephedra. I, too had taken diet pills with ephedra and did not even know what that herb was until I lost my daughter, and ephedra is back on the market after being banned for awhile. My daughter never had seizures until she took ephedra and would not go to a speicalist, my guilt that I did not push her harder.

My heart goes out to you, Mom of Brandon, you and I both held our children in our arms, after they had left this earth. I have always felt it was meant for me to find my daughter, my best friend. I cradled around her as I had sat her up in the tub as she and I waited for the ambulance. I wrapped my arms around her and rubbed her face, she was as cold as ice, the water had been running for hours. I just leaned over her and rocked back and forth with her, my last time to hold her/4/13/04 around 5:30PM

Feel free to email me anytime at msdoode@bspeedy.com as I lost my daughter 3 years prior to your Brandon and in the same month. April is tough for both of us and our families and I used to love the Spring of the year.

Hugs and more hugs again

My Blessings

November 22, 2007

Thank you for allowing me to add Brandon's precious Memorial Website, not only in our local bereavement website, but also in my daughter, Kanda's Memorial website.

I remember my first year, walking that bumpy road of grief, still not believing I no longer had my daughter, my best friend, in my life and now April 13, 2008 will be the 4th anniversary. I can't believe I have managed to go on, but we do, we just do, maybe for our precious children. Kanda was 5 weeks from her 31st birthday, divorced, had miscarried twice while married. I like to think she is with her babies.

I will be thinking of you this coming April as you are at the 1st anniversary of the loss, your precious Brandon.

My deepest condolences, I know your pain, I know your pain.

My biggest hugs to you and family

Brandon - Thinking of you my Sweet Angel and Missing you so very much on your first Thanksgiving in Heaven. I am forever Thankful to be your Mom. I Love you so much Honey and miss you more with each passing day. Today I am Thankful for the time I was blessed to have you here with me (our time together was so short - but even a million years would not have been enough for me). I am Thankful for the special and loving bond we share and for the Heavenly Signs you send me. Today I am also Thankful for being one day closer to being with you again.

I Miss You and Love You Bigger than the World and with All My Heart Brandon.

The Holiday Army

November 17, 2007

The Holiday Army Written By Andrea Gambill

Here it comes again — the Holiday Army — in its annual march. Some of its generals are called "Thanksgiving," "Christmas," "Hanukah," "New Year's Eve" and "New Year's Day." They are no respecters of the heartbroken and emotionally wounded, and their troops are merciless. They take no prisoners! They demand that we participate in their joy and nostalgia or they will mow us down with their militant tanks of holiday spirit.

Sometimes they declare their war on us openly — without shame or remorse. Sometimes, they wait for us in ambush. Their intelligence operators have been working diligently all year, waiting for the Thanksgiving Day (or sometimes Halloween!) trumpet signal to begin their attack. They just don't seem satisfied to have their celebrations and parties and dinners and festivities unless they can recruit ALL of us into their ranks.

Actually, we wish them well. All we really want is for them to leave us alone and let us mourn in peace and quiet. We prefer our "Silent Nights" to their "Deck the Halls" and Jingle Bells." We don't intentionally spoil their fun, it's just that our pain makes them uncomfortable. They've been conditioned to believe that "The Holiday Season" should have no blemish of suffering or lack of frivolity. We must not only bandage our wounds while in their presence, but cover them with taffeta and sequins besides. They are convinced that all we need is to "put on a happy face" and all our sorrows will magically evaporate.

In their mad pursuit of happiness, they shoot us with the bullets of shopping, piped-in music, special holiday foods and fragrances, gift wrapping, decorations (especially the angels!), joyous children with happy smiles, cards, invitations, parties and gift exchanges. Any other time of the year, snow is considered a nuisance to shovel and plow through. At the holiday season, though, it is touted as romantic and is linked to sleighs and starry nights in front of fireplaces, snuggled close to those we love.

The most devastating bombs they drop into our lives are the images of reunion — times of greeting and hugging folks who are much loved and sometimes not often seen for awhile. They may only be separated by geography; our absent loved ones cannot cross the chasm of loss that looms before our tear-filled eyes. They remind us of things we should be thankful for (and we are more thankful for many of those things than they can ever imagine). They prod us with their spears of delightful togetherness, never realizing that what they celebrate is what we cannot now enjoy. We would not dream of attacking them in these battles for holiday survival. With our noses pressed against the glass that divides us, we actually long to be able to be part of their happiness. We remember the times we joined in their fun and we, too, were part of their army of nostalgia and joy.

Our broken hearts and bleeding wounds do not excuse us from being gracious, however. While grief does not give us permission to be rude and selfish, and we take no overt action against their aggression, we are not without defenses in these battles. We can shield ourselves with the armor of dignity with kind but direct and simple explanations: "We understand your need for celebration, but this year we prefer quiet and private reflection and meditation." "Right now it's hard for us to function in large groups and to appreciate laughter and high spirits." "Our energy is so limited; we'd appreciate some quiet one-on-one time with you in a more spiritual atmosphere." We can gently remind them of how important it is for us to remember those we love who are gone. These are statements that clarify our position without judging or criticizing them for theirs. In kind and non-threatening ways, we need to tell them what's good for us, because they won't think of it on their own, and they can use the education.

We also can exercise the muscles of our sense of humor. It will take some effort on our part, but so does anything that is worthwhile and good for us. We can teach ourselves not to fall into the trap of thinking that our grief makes us the center of the universe. We can limit our demands that others treat us in "special" and "deferential" ways because of our pain. We can cut them a little slack and remember that once upon a time, we were just like they are now. It's good and healthy for us to review our perspectives now and then and decide if we're being fair and reasonable.

We can express our love in simple and unhurried ways without all the frenetic, expensive and often hysterical hype that the holidays can generate. And we must exercise the expression of our love. Grief does not rob us of our ability to love; it reminds us ever more dramatically of our need to both give and receive love while we are here.

Whenever we can take some control in our situations, we empower ourselves, and then we feel less like victims in what seems like a war of "peace on earth, goodwill toward men." Anytime we can educate and inform with mercy and compassion, we have given a truly spiritual holiday gift of love that will keep on giving forever.

May your season be filled with genuine blessings of peace

Brandon...

Our lives go on without you But nothing is the same, We have to hide our heartaches When someone speaks your name. Sad are the hearts that love you Silent the tears that fall, Living our hearts without you Is the hardest part of all. You did so many things for us Your heart was kind and true. And when we needed someone We could always count on you, The special years will not return When we were all together, But with the love within our hearts You will walk with us forever.

Brandon, we know that even though you are not here with us physically you will forever be with us spiritually. Your strong spirit and your everlasting love will always remain deep within our hearts and souls. I believe that you will come to each and every one of us who love you and let us know that your ok in Paradise. I wrote to Aunt Pearl in her memorial site and asked her, Uncle Phil, Grandma and Grandpa to watch over you. I'm sure that your reunion with them was very special. It brings us comfort Brandon, knowing that they all are with you in Heaven, and that you are not alone. They love you as much as we do. We miss you very much. Our lives are forever changed and we all are trying to figure out how to accept the reality that we will never be able to wrap our arms around you or kiss your sweet face again. Our hearts ache like never before. So much to try to understand. It is still uncomprehendable why God called you home when he did. We will always struggle to understand that. We are so sorry that the healthcare system failed you as they did. We hope that all the healthcare professionals that failed you know who they are and some how pay for what they did to you. You were an inspirational young man who had so much to live for. You were always such a hard worker and were so proud of all the things that you worked so hard to get. You were always so respectful and kind. We will always be very proud to call you our Nephew. Your Mom has told us about the signs that you have sent to her. It is very heartwarming to hear that you visit with her. Continue to send your Mom signs. Whisper in her ear that you are with her always, for you live within her heart!

Thinking of you daily, with smiles on our faces~ and tears in our hearts.

I'm just so sorry.

November 10, 2007

Sandy, I am just so sorry that this life is full of so much pain. It is full of so much good too. Someone once said, maybe when I stand before the Lord I will ask him WHY??? But then again I may be in such shock that I made it there, I'd forget to ask. I pray that you are able to move forward and carry his love in your heart knowing you will be together someday soon. Remember a day in heaven is like a thousand years down here. He may just be beginning his journey in a place our minds can not imagine. He lives in a place of no pain and for that I am thankful. Its just so hard here without him. But I know you will make him proud.

I'm trying to understand

November 9, 2007

Brandon - Please tell him that I am trying to understand ... but it's hard 'cause I miss you so.

God Said If you never felt pain, then how would you know that I'm a Healer. If you never went through difficulties, how would you know that I'm a Deliverer. If you never had a trial, how could you call yourself an over comer. If you never felt sadness, how would you know that I'm a Comforter. If you never made a mistake, how would you know that I'm a Forgiver. If you knew all, how would you know that I will answer your questions. If you were never in trouble, how would you know that I can make you whole. If you never had a problem, how would you know that I can solve them. If you never had any suffering, how would you know what Jesus went through. If you never went through the fire, how would you become pure. If I gave you all things, how would you appreciate them. If I never corrected you, how would you know I love you. If you had all the power, how would you learn to depend on me. If your life were perfect, what would you need Me for?

Footprints In The Sand

October 25, 2007

Footprints

One night a man had a dream. He dreamed he was walking along the beach with the Lord. Across the sky flashed scenes from his life, for each scene. he noticed two sets of footprints in the sand, one belonging to him the other to the Lord. When the last scene of his life flashed before him, he looked back at the footprints in the sand. He noticed that many times along the path of his life there were only one set of footprints. He also noticed that it happened at the very lowest and saddest times in his life.

This really bothered him and he questioned the Lord about it.
"Lord, you said that once I decided to follow you, you would walk with me all the way.

But I have noticed that during the most troublesome times in my life there is only one set of footprints.
I do not understand why when I needed you most you would leave me?"

The Lord replied
"My precious child, I love you and
I would never leave you.

During your times of trial and suffering
when you see only one set of footprints
it was then that I carried you."

""WHEN YOU WISH UPON A STAR""

October 14, 2007

Elaine Grier, TCF Atlanta, Ga (THE COMPASSIONATE FRIENDS)

""WHEN YOU WISH UPON A STAR""

Every time I am in a group of bereaved parents,
I hear people say things like,
"I wish my child hadn't died" or
"I wish I had him back."
Those wishes, unfortunately, can never come true.
Another wish I hear is
"I wish my friends (or church, or neighbors, or relatives) understood what I am going through and were more supportive."
This is a wish that has some possibility of coming true if we are able to be honest and assertive with the people around us.
What do we wish others understood about the loss of our child?
Here is a partial list of such wishes:

- 1. I wish you would not be afraid to speak my child's name. My child lived and was important and I need to hear his name.
- 2. If I cry or get emotional if we talk about my child,
 I wish you
 knew that it isn't because you have hurt me;
 the fact that my child
 died has caused my tears.
 You have allowed me to cry and thank you.
 Crying and emotional outbursts are healing.
- 3. I wish you wouldn't "kill" my child again by removing from your home his pictures, artwork, or other remembrances.

4. I will have emotional highs and lows, ups and downs. I wish you wouldn't think that if I have a good day my grief is all over, or that if I have a bad day I need psychiatric counseling.

5. I wish you knew that the death of a child is different from other losses and must be viewed separately. It is the ultimate tragedy and I wish you wouldn't compare it to your loss of a parent, a spouse, or a pet.

6. Being a bereaved parent is not contagious, so I wish you wouldn't shy away from me.

7. I wish you knew all of the "crazy" grief reactions that I am having are in fact very normal. Depression, anger, frustration, hopelessness, and the questioning of values and beliefs are to be expected following the death of a child.

8. I wish you wouldn't expect my grief to be over in six months.
The
first few years are going to be exceedingly traumatic for us.

As with alcoholics,
I will never be "cured" or a "former bereaved parent", but will forevermore be a "recovering bereaved parent".

9. I wish you understood the physical reactions to grief.
I may gain weight or lose weight, sleep all the time or not at all, develop a host of illnesses and be accident-prone, all of which may be related to my grief.

10. Our child's birthday, the anniversary of his death, and holidays are a terrible times for us. I wish you would tell us that you are thinking about our child on these days, and if we get quiet and withdrawn, just know that we are thinking about our child and don't try to coerce us into being cheerful.

11. It is normal and good that most of us re-examine our faith, values, and beliefs after losing a child. We will question things we have been taught all our lives and hopefully come to some new understanding with our God. I wish you would let me tangle with my religion without making me feel guilty.

12. I wish you wouldn't offer me drinks or drugs. These are just temporary crutches, and the only way I can get through this grief is to experience it. I have to hurt before I can heal.

13. I wish you understood that grief changes people. I am not the same person I was before my child died and I never will be that person again.

If you keep waiting for me to "get back to my old self", you will stay frustrated. I am a new creature with new thoughts, dreams, aspirations, values and beliefs. Please try to get to know the new me -- maybe you'll still like me..

*HEARTSTRINGS

When those we love go away, they never really leave us; they are with us now, wherever we are.

Those whom we have cherished, live on forever, for love wraps itself around the heart.

Although it's difficult now, someday beyond our tears and all the world's wrongs; beyond the clouds and all that we can see and touch,

we shall all understand

Brandon- All of your Family Love and Miss YOU Very Much!!! We continue to struggle everyday with the reality that we will never be able to kiss your handsome face or hear your sweet voice again. We speak of you often and look at your pictures daily. I have your pictures hung on the cabinets at my desk. I have always had yours, Jessica's and Jason's pictures hung at work for all my co-workers to see. I also have pictures of Gabrielle, Bree, and Meg hung up too. I have always been proud of all of all of you. We talk about you with the girls all the time. We want them to know and remember what a truely AWESOME Cousin and Godfather you always were. Meg has even talked to you on her cell phone. One day I overheard her talking. I asked her who she was speaking to. She said "To Brandon In Heaven". It was a precious moment. Meg looks up into the sky and say's "Brandon lives up there". She is going to be 4 going on 24 this December. You always knew how to make the girls laugh and smile. They are all getting so big. Gabby's 7th Birthday is this Friday. We will be Celebrating it on Saturday. We know that you will be there with us in Spirit, as you are everyday of our lives. We Love and Miss YOU so very much. Butterfly Chrysalis

September 15, 2007

My Sweet Brandon - You always brought me the most spectacular heart felt gifts but this most recent one is unbelievable. When I asked you each day to send me a sign that you were ok in the form of a butterfly I never imagined I would receive the ultimate butterfly gift - the chance to see the actual birth of a butterfly. When I first found the chrysalis I didn't even know what it was, just that it was beautiful and something I wanted to keep - when I learned it was a Monarch butterfly cocoon I could not believe it. I have been watching it each day and tonight I can actually see the beautiful orange and black wings thru the now thin shell - any time now a beautiful butterfly will emerge and it will restore my faith that you, like the caterpillar before, did not die but in fact live on. I thank you so very much for sending me this beautiful gift, perhaps for my birthday? You are and will always be my amazingly loving son. I miss you and love you more than words can say baby.

Mom

Brandon, my Sweet Angel - Oh how I miss you. Each day gets harder and harder to face without you here. Today is an especially hard day for me - my first birthday without you. You always made it your mission to make it a special day for me, even when you lived away from home. Like last year when, although you did not feel well, you drove all day to surprise me and that you did, arriving with a beautiful card and 2 dozen roses. We didn't get much sleep those 3 days you were there - instead we stayed up all night playing games and talking - Oh, how I miss those nights with you when we would stay up all night. Those were the nights when we both seemed most relaxed and able to talk about anything and everything. We both knew we could share and tell the other anything, good or bad, without judgement. You were my rock baby and will forever be my Loving Son and my Best Friend.

I miss you terribly and love you so very much.

The day God took you

July 28, 2007

On the day God took you
I thought that I would die
I wondered where the time went?
I asked a lot of why??
with people all around me
I felt alone inside
from all their words of comfort,
I couldn't seem to hide,
I thought I might be dreaming that I'd wake and find you here,

I thought "this can't be happening".
as I wiped another tear.
On the day that you were laid to rest
my heart broke yet again.
I wondered if the pain will end,
but mostly, I wondered when??
I's hard to be without you,
at times the day seems long,
sometimes I just sit crying
when there is nothing wrong.
I wish I had more time
before your life was done,
I hope your resting peacefully Brandon,
My precious one.

I Still Feel your Love

July 28, 2007

I Still Feel Your Love

I know you're gone from this earth
You left me way too soon
But I feel your love every time
I gaze up at the moon.
Sometimes I think I hear
A whisper in the wind
It sounds as if you've called my name
As your love to me you send.
Sometimes I do a silly thing

And your laughter fills my ears I know you're right here with me But I can't see you through my tears. I felt your hand upon my shoulder And I quickly turned to see Visible... you were not But I know you're here with me. In the night you sometime come To visit in my dreams My hands go out to touch you But you're just out of reach it seems. For just a flash you appear Standing close to me Is it just my imagination Or is it really you I see. Even though you're gone from me And you watch me from above I long for you everyday... And I still feel your love.

A Love so strong

July 28, 2007

The special bond of Mother and Child is written with Love on their hearts and souls and makes them a part of each other

When you feel a gentle breeze Caress you when you sigh It's a hug sent from Brandon, From Heaven way up high.

If a soft and tender raindrop Lands upon your nose Brandon added a small kiss As fragile as a rose.

If a song you hear fills you With a feeling of sweet love It's a hug sent from Heaven From our special Angel up above.

If you awaken in the morning To a bluebird's chirping song It's music sent from Heaven To cheer you all day long.

If tiny little snowflakes
Land upon your face
It's a hug sent from Heaven
Trimmed with Angel Lace

So keep Brandon's memory alive, and hug him everyday. Always feel his warmth and love, and remember, Hugs that are sent from Heaven A broken heart will mend.

July 4, 2007

Brandon-

Like a flower still blooming, you live in our hearts.

Like a candle still glowing, you exist in our minds.

Like the very air we breathe in,

we can never do without you.

And just like a beautiful melody you are our never-ending song, a sweet serenade, muted on earth, but loudly heard by our souls.

And as we face this mountain of grief, our tears become a fountain of love, soaring high into the heavens, arms stretched to embrace you!

Brandon- We all miss you so very much! Our family has been forever changed, and nothing will be the same again without you in our lives. We think about you everyday. The memories of our times together are joyous ones, and always bring smiles to our faces. We treasure every precious moment that we shared with you! You were always so gentle and kind. We have to believe that God has a greater plan for you in Heaven! We pray that someday we will understand why you were chosen to leave us. Our hearts ache and our minds are in a state of confusion. The doesn't know I'm with her to help her understand.

But like the sands on the beach that never wash away....

I watch over my Ourviving Mom who thinks of me each day.

The wears a smile for others... H smile of disguise!

But through Heaven's door I see tears flowing from her eyes.

My Mom tries to cope with death; To keep my memory alive.

But anyone who knows her knows it is her way to survive.

As I watch over my Surviving Mom through Heaven's open door...

I try to tell her that angles protect me forevermore!

I know it doesn't help her, or ease the burden she bears.

So, if you get a chance, go visit her, Show her that you care.

For no matter what she says...No matter what she feels.

My Surviving Mom has a broken heart that time won't ever heal.

This Mom would walk to Heaven

I thought I saw you today

This poem was written by a very special friend of mine for her handsome son Anthony Paul after he sadly received his Angel Wings in June of 2006 - Ant, Soar High among the clouds with my sweet son Brandon - Thank You Nat for sharing this very touching poem -

Brandon- Today Jason and Jennifer wed! We were very sad that you were not here with us physically to witness the beautiful ceremony. We felt you here with us spiritually as your presence warmed up the Church. Jennifer was a very beautiful bride and Jason was a very handsome groom. Jason's daughter Desiree was the flower girl. She is so precious. A beautiful blonde haired doll! She looks a lot like her Daddy! She was also blessed at the alter along with Jason and Jenn. They make such a beautiful family. I know that you will continue to watch over them as you watch over all of us always. Shawn Berhman was the best man in your place. No offense to Shawn but I know that if you were here you would have stood up for them. Shawn is such an awesome guy and he spoke to us about his special memories of you, him, Shannon, Jason, and Jessica from throughout your childhood years together. It warmed my heart as he spoke about you with such love and respect. Shawn is married to a really sweet, beautiful young lady. His toast to Jason and Jennifer was truly inspiring and he also spoke about how our family helped bring him up. Shawn and Jason remind me a lot of you! Warm, loving and kind!

Thinking of you always~with smiles on our faces~and tears in our hearts! ••

Remembering you always! Loving and missing you!

Rest in peace Sweet Angel!

Hey Brandon- Today we received Jason and Jenn's wedding invitation. The wedding is going to be on September 27, 2008. Jason and Jenn wanted you to be a part of their wedding so much that they asked your Mom if it would be ok if you were part of their very special day. Of course your Mom was very touched by this gesture and told them how much that would mean to her. They are going to have a spot for you as they walk down the aisle to say their wedding vows and you will have a place at the wedding party table. Having you be a part of this celebration really warms our hearts. We will feel your spirit within us and be both joyful and sad. It is going to be a very bittersweet day. We know that your spirit will fill the room with warmth, laughter, and tears. You and Jason both had your difficulties over the years but throughout it all you both shared a very special bond and loved each other always. You will forever be cousins and best friends! Rest In Peace Sweet Angel! Thinking of you daily~ with smiles on our face's and tears in our hearts. Remembering you always! Love Always- Aunt Sheryl & Uncle Leo

Aunt Sheryl & Uncle Leo

Brandon- We think about you each and every day with smiles on our faces` and tears in our hearts. We miss you so very much! We are so very proud of your Mom for continuing your fight for you. She loves and misses you so very much! We will always cherish all the precious moments that we spent with you. We feel so sad that we didn't have more years to be with you. We love you so much and our hearts never stop aching over your absence in our lives. Please watch over us Sweet Angel and know that one day we will all be together again! God Bless You! Rest In Peace Brandon Tyler!

P.S. Meg talks about you all the time! Today she told me that she wanted to go up to heaven and give you and her Nana big hugs and kisses. So Precious she is!

Merry Christmas Honey - I Love you and Miss you so very much

First Christmas with Jesus 2007

I'm Spending Christmas With Jesus This Year

I see the countless Christmas trees around the world below,

With tiny lights like Heavens stars

Reflecting on the snow.

The sight is so spectacular

please wipe away that tear

for I'm spending Christmas

with Jesus this year.

I hear the many Christmas songs

that people hold so dear,

but the sounds of music can't compare with the Christmas choir up here.

For I have no words to tell you the joy their voices bring,

for it is beyond description

to hear the angels sing.

I know how much you miss me

I see the pain inside your heart

for I'm spending Christmas

with Jesus this year.

I can't tell you of the splendor of the peace here in this place,

can you just imagine Christmas with our Savior face to face?

I'll ask Him to light your spirit

as I tell Him of your love,

so then pray for one another as you lift your eyes above.

So please let your hearts be joyful

and let your spirit sing,

for I'm spending Christmas in Heaven and I'm walking with the King.

Forever Missing You

Who You'd Be Today By Kenny Chesney

Sunny days seem to hurt the most I wear the pain like a heavy coat I feel you everywhere I go I see your smile, I see your face I hear you laughing in the rain I still can't believe you're gone

It ain't fair you died too young Like a story that had just begun

But death tore the pages all away God knows how I miss you All the hell that I've been through Just knowing no one could take your place Sometimes I wonder who you'd be today

Would you see the world, would you chase your dreams
Settle down with a family
I wonder what would you name your babies
Some days the sky's so blue
I feel like I can talk to you
I know it might sound crazy

It ain't fair you died too young
Like a story that had just begun
But death tore the pages all away
God knows how I miss you
All the hell that I've been through
Just knowing no one could take your place
Sometimes I wonder who you'd be today

Today, today, today Today, today, today Sunny days seem to hurt the most I wear the pain like a heavy coat The only thing that gives me hope Is I know I'll see you again someday

Brandon also Enjoyed

Some more of the things that Brandon liked:

Sour Patch Kids candy

Razzing me for liking the NY Yankees

Surprising me – on my Birthday last year Brandon drove down from NJ, arriving at 6pm with a beautiful bouquet of roses – he said he felt so bad the entire trip for going the entire day without having yet called me to say 'Happy Birthday', but he was afraid I'd hear him in the car and figure something was up.

Reading the Consumer Report

Visiting Baltimore MD – he loved the excitement and the nightlife

Watching wrestling on TV

Acting silly with me – when Brandon was little we'd look over at the cars next to us at the stop light and make goofy or scary faces – most would be surprised at first and then smile –Brandon and I would laugh so hard we'd cry. Another time he danced around the grocery store isle singing a goofy song he made up about buying toilet paper. Jess and I were laughing so hard and trying to run away and he just kept following us singing the 'potty' song.

Some more of his favorite foods:

Cheese ravioli's

Pepperoni Pizza!! (he really missed good NJ pizza when he moved back to VA)

Bloomin' Onions from Outback Steakhouse

Frosted Flakes

Philly Cheese Steaks

Cheese Omelets – He was always asking me to flip it for him because he'd always make them look messy and he hated messy looking food.

Saving things – Brandon was really sentimental

Operating construction equipment (any and all, the bigger the better)

Power tools – whenever I would try to fix something he'd tell me to 'hold on' and run and get one of his power tools – usually bigger than needed for the job – a guy thing I guess.

Giving respect, but more importantly, getting it back in return.

Believe it or not – Job interviews- Brandon had a knack for winning people over – he never went on a job interview where he wasn't hired on the spot.

Fishing - we'd go all the time when he was little. He went a couple times with Uncle Leo and Jason on Uncle Leo's boat and would sometimes go with Daniel.

He felt really special that Pop-Pop hand-picked some guns for him from his collection - He said he would never use them, he was going to put them in a shadowbox - unfortunately, Brandon never got back to NJ to get them.

Memories from Jess

I remember many of the same things about Brandon and many more.

I was with him when he got the Beshada tattoo, he was so proud of that tattoo, he showed everyone he could.

I remember when I first brought Ty home, it was his anniversary present. At first we called him Tyler but then shortened it to Ty.

He loved Sunrise Mt. Our favorite place was the overlook on the way up to the park and of course the park. We would swing on the swings for hours just talking about our hope and dreams.

Our other favorite place to go was the boardwalk along the Hudson river in Weehawkin, NJ. This is where Brandon proposed to me. He was so nervous but it was so cute.

He loved to cook. I did not like his favorite meal, but he would cook me whatever I wanted as long as I was happy.

I remember eating Chinese food with him. I love chinese food and he is the only person that I have ever met that would eat it with me a few times a week, even though he was not thrilled with it!!

For my our first Valentines Day he brought me roses and a teddy bear, and took me out to dinner. I had told him months before that I had never had a good V-day, and he remembered so he wanted it to be so special for me.

For his 21st B-day Mom took us to Meadowlands Race Way. Brandon loved it. I think we went back 10 times after that just because he had so much fun.

I remember our trips to Wildwood, where we would walk up and down the beach looking for shells. He would try so hard to find non broken ones for me, because I started a collection on our first trip.

I remember the little birth mark on his lip.. I loved it.. oh did he hate it!

But most of all I remember the dozen mini roses that he would bring me ever couple of weeks. I do not know where he got them from, but they always lasted a couple weeks.

Brandon was my angel on earth and now he is my angel in Heaven.

I love you Brandon.. always have and always will! We will be together agian just like you promised, we

Things Brandon Enjoyed

These are just some of the things that Brandon loved.

The Soprano's – I had never seen the series and this past winter we rented all the DVD's and stayed up many a night until the wee hours watching them together.

House, MD – Brandon always said he would have loved a Dr. like House, honest and to the point.

Jennifer Morrison (Cameron from House, MD) she was his screen saver on his cell phone and his computer. (I can almost hear his 'aw mom')

The game of LIFE – something else we did until the wee hours – marathon games of LIFE. We used to laugh because he always managed to get 2 sets of twins.

His middle name 'Tyler' he named his one cat Ty, after himself.

His tattoos, he was so proud of the 'Beshada' name he had tattooed on his back. I used to tease him that the Chinese symbol tattooed on his chest looked like Gumby. Last year Brandon got a tattoo of a Chinese symbol on the back of his neck that meant 'to overcome'

Kielbasa and Sauerkraut – Brandon never could turn down a plate (or 2) of kielbasa and sauerkraut when visiting Uncle Albert and Sue.

Brandon was so proud that 'Uncle' Dan and Jen had chosen him to be Gabrielle's God-Father. He worried about the service and ceremony for weeks.

Computers and electronics – Brandon was a natural born wiz kid at this. He built me a computer from scratch a few years ago. He loved to tinker with them.

His nitrogen fueled 4 wheeler truck – when he moved back home last fall he raced it out back so Nikki could chase it.

War movies, especially Black Hawk Down – he met the author of the book while doing his Infantry training in Georgia. Full Metal Jacket was another favorite.

His pit bull Damien – he loved that dog.

Sunrise Mountain – Brandon used to go there with Jessica to look at the view and to play and just be silly on the swings.

Manhattan – Brandon loved the city. He especially liked his last job because it allowed him to drive into Staten Island in the early morning when all was calm – he loved watching the sunrise behind the NY Skyline.

Brandon's music tastes changed so much over the years – he was a huge Elvis fan, then he switched to Kiss and then Garth Brooks. He had his share of Rap favorites, loved the music of the 80's and Josh Groban. He always played music while taking a shower.

Shaving his head – he started when he was about 10. He was one of the few that actually had to let it grow some when he joined the Army.

His country – Brandon was a proud American. When he received a letter from the military after 9/11 stating he may be called back to duty he said he'd proudly go in a heartbeat. Brandon felt the military gave him the direction and the discipline he needed as a young man. Brandon loved the respect he felt he got when he wore his military uniform – he said people didn't treat him like a 'punk kid'.

Motorcycles, ATV's and snowmobiles – He recently talked of wanting to buy a motorcycle.

Working hard – Brandon actually like to work hard. He never knew what to so with himself when he wasn't working. He would call his bosses on Saturday's to see if there was something he could do. He'd wash the company trucks, he didn't care. He loved that he and Uncle Albert started a business "Beshada"

Construction" He took pride in his work.

Rice Krispie treats – Brandon preferred to make his own from scratch, said they just tasted better – he'd sit and eat the whole pan in one night.

A big rare steak with baked potato and a salad.

His fish tank – Brandon loved watching the shark fish.

Cooking – Brandon loved to cook, especially if he was cooking for others – he'd be so proud making sure everyone was well fed and enjoying themselves.

Pepsi – rarely would you find Brandon without a Pepsi in his hand.

His lint brush – while most people carried a comb in their back pocket Brandon used to carry a lint brush. He always wanted to look nice when he went anywhere.

Candles – Brandon always had a candle burning

His beard – Brandon was so proud of his new beard – he took him forever to grow one without the bare patches.

I know each day new memories will surface of the things that Brandon did and that Brandon loved - I'm counting on them. These are just a few as I sit here and remember and miss my sweet baby boy.

Forever Brandon's Mom

Thanksgiving at Brandon's

Three years ago Brandon wanted to host Thanksgiving Dinner for me. He called to say he wouldn't take no for an answer (he lived in NJ and I lived in VA) that this year was his turn. Brandon said his friend/neighbor Nate would also be helping so I didn't need to do or bring anything. Of course I said I would be there. I had to work the day before Thanksgiving so I didn't arrive until late morning on Thanksgiving Day. When I got there Brandon and Nate were hard at work getting everything ready. They decided on a Spiral Ham and a deep fried Turkey with all the fixin's. There was so much food. I wasn't allowed to do anything - I was so proud of Brandon - he was all grown-up and hosting his very first holiday dinner. Brandon had always been an awesome cook so I knew I was in for a treat. Brandon also invited my sister Sheryl and her husband Leo so we had a full house. Seating was limited but it didn't matter, we all found a spot and enjoyed great food prepared by Brandon and his friend Nate with so much love. They were both so proud of themselves. We ate until we couldn't eat anymore, all the while talking and laughing. It was perfect and has since been my most memorable Thanksgiving. That Thanksgiving Day meant so much to Brandon and we talked about it often. My sister spoke about that special day in her Eulogy for my son. This Thanksgiving, the first without my Brandon, will be so very difficult. I know that my mind will focus on that special Thanksgiving Dinner prepared for me and my family by my son and his friend and I know those memories will bring a smile to my face. This Thanksgiving I will miss my son more than anyone can imagine. I will be thankful for the Thanksgivings I was blessed to spent with Brandon, but none will be as special and memorable as the one he so lovingly prepared.

Mother of An Angel

Brandon loved Saint Christopher and proudly wore his medal daily, saying Saint Christopher protected him. When it was taken from around Brandon's neck on the morning he passed I immediatley put it around my neck and have not, nor will I ever, take it off. It is the last thing that touched my son, the last to feel his beating heart - it now hangs next to my heart. My brother Leo gave Brandon his Saint Christopher medal, a medal blessed by the Pope in Rome and given to my brother as a gift, to hold during the memorial service. He said this way I didn't have to remove Brandon's. Saint Christopher traveled with Brandon after the service and now sits in the keepsake portion of his URN so Brandon is never without his beloved Saint Christopher. I am so very grateful to my brother Leo for this heartfelt gift to Brandon.

Forever Your Loving Mom

But A Moment

You'll always be my child-I think of you each day, Even though you must remain so very far away.

A love as strong as this, I've never felt before; But you had to go away-up through heaven's door.

You'll never have to suffer, or feel pain or hate, just peace and love and happiness-God has given you this fate.

I hope that you can feel just how much I care; And, When my days are over, in a flash-I will be there.

Pure unbounding joy!
We'll never have to part.
You'll be right by my sideAnd not just in my heart.

But, until that day, when my dream is real-I think I understand, just how I should feel...

"Mom, I am fine!"
this must be what you would say"Please don't be so sad, we'll meet again one day.

I'm with God above so don't cry for me, Our parting is but a moment compared to eternity."

Message from a Sweet Angel

In The Light

A shadow of joy flickered; it is me.
I told you I wouldn't leave..
My spirit is with you.
My memories, my thoughts are imbedded deep in your heart.
I still love you.

Do not for one moment think that you have been abandoned.

I am in the Light.

In the corner, in the hall, the car, the yard -these are the places I stay with you.

My spirit rises every time you pray for me, but my energy comes closer to you. Love does not diminish, it grows stronger. I am the feather that finds you in the yard, the dimmed light that grows brighter in your mind, I place our memories for you to see.

We lived in our special way,
a way that now has its focus changed.
I still crave your understanding and long for the many words of prayer and good fortune for my soul.
I am in the Light.

As you struggle to adjust without me,

I watch silently.

Sometimes I summon up all the strength of my new world to make you notice me.

Impressed by your grief, I try to impress my love deeper into your consciousness.

As you should, I call out to the Heavens for help.
You should know that the fountain of youth does exist.
My soul is now healthy.
Your love sends me new found energy.
I am adjusting to this new world.
I am with you and I am in the Light.

Please don't feel bad that you can't see me.

I am with you wherever you go.

I protect you, just as you protected me so many times.

Talk to me and somehow I will find a way to answer you.

Mother, father, son or daughter it makes no difference.
Brother, sister, lover, husband or wife, it makes no difference.
Whatever our connection-friend or even foeI see you with my new eyes.

I am learning to help wherever you are, wherever I am needed. This can be done because I am in the Light. When you feel despair, reach out to me. I will come.

Our love for you truly does transcend from Heaven to Earth.

Finish your life with the enthusiasm and zest that you had when we were together in the physical sense.
You owe this to me, but more importantly,
you owe it to yourself.

Life continues for both of us.
I am with you because I love you and I am in the Light.

Brandon, My Son

Strong, Honest, Loving and Kind Thoughtful, Caring and Compassionate A Son like this is hard to find.

Nothing will ever be able to mend my broken heart. I am Loving You and Missing You every second of every day.

I pray that you are at peace in Heaven above and I pray that you feel the Love I send to you each day.

Thank you Brandon for the message you sent to me last week - It warmed my heart to know that you were thinking of me. I pray for them each night and hope you will send me many more.

A child is a gift

from the Heavenly Father

That comes with many moments of Love.

But what you think

you'll hold for a lifetime

may one day

soar to the Heaven's above.

So, I sit tonight

longing to hold you

I just can't hold back my tears

There were many beautiful moments with you

Oh, just not enough years.

I miss you every second of every day Brandon.

Some people only dream of Angels ...

I hold one in my heart.

Aunt Sheryl & Uncle Leo

You did so many things for us Your heart was kind and true, Brandon...

Our lives go on without you
But nothing is the same,
We have to hide our heartaches
When someone speaks your name.
Sad are the hearts that love you
Silent the tears that fall,
Living our hearts without you
Is the hardest part of all.

And when we needed someone
We could always count on you,
The special years will not return
When we were all together,
But with the love within our hearts
You will walk with us forever.

Thinking of you daily

with smiles on our faces~

and tears in our hearts

GOD BLESS YOU SWEET ANGEL~

We will love and miss you forever!

The Cord

We are connected, My child and I,

by an invisible cord Not seen by the eye.

It's not like the cord That connects us 'til birth This cord can't been seen By any on Earth.

This cord does it's work Right from the start. It binds us together Attached to my heart.

I know that it's there Though no one can see The invisible cord From my Child to Me. The strength of this cord Is hard to describe. It can't be destroyed It can't be denied.

It's stronger than any cord Man could create It withstands the test Can hold any weight.

And though you are gone, Though you're not here with me, The cord is still there But no one can see.

It pulls at my heart
I am bruised...I am sore,
This cord is my lifeline
As never before.

I am thankful that God Connects us this way A Mother and Child Death can't take it away!

Brandon, I will forever treasure the close and unique bond we had as Mother and Son and as Best Friends. You forever remain My Son, My Best Friend, My Pride and Joy and My Hero - I Love You so much Sweet Angel and Miss You terribly.

Whispers from Heaven

When I left this world without you I know it made you blue.
Your tears fell so freely,
I watched; I know this is true.

While you were weeping
Days after I passed awayWhile all was silent within me,
I saw you kneel to pray.

From this wonderful place called heaven Where all my pain is gone,

I send a gentle breeze to whisper, "My loved ones, please go on"

The peace that I have found here Goes far beyond compare No rain, no clouds, no suffering-Just LOVE from everywhere.

You need not be troubled Just stay close to GOD in prayer Someday we'll be reunited My love, HIS love surrounds you always, EVERYWHERE!

NAME: Brandon Tyler Beshada (photo at 6 months of age)

BORN: March 21, 1982

DAY: Sunday TIME: 6:08pm WEIGHT: 8 pounds

LENGTH: 21 inches long

HAIR: Dark Brown WHERE: Newton, NJ

GREW UP: in Newton, NJ until age 6, moved to Florida for a very short time, resided in Virginia for 14 years and then when he was 20 he returned to NJ, after 2 years in the military, where he resided until he was 24. He moved back home to Virginia to live with me while waiting for the approval for his surgery.

He passed at home in his sleep 10 days after his 25th Birthday.

My precious Brandon was born on Sunday, the Lord's Day and I took him home with me from the hospital on a Thursday. Brandon received his Angel Wings on Sunday, the Lord's Day and I saw him for the very last time and said good-bye at his service which was on a Thursday - some tell me that it has special meaning but I don't know.

Brandon was very eager to arrive - he was 10 days early and came after just 90 minutes of natural labor. My labor had to be induced because my water broke at 6 am but otherwise I had a very easy pregnancy. I was young, just 19 when I had him, and single, but I wanted him so and couldn't wait for him to get here. After I delivered the nurses kept telling me to get back to my room and rest but I couldn't break myself away from the nursery window. I longed for the feeding times that could not come soon enough. I couldn't wait to get him home so I could hug and kiss him whenever I wanted. I finally got to take him home on Thursday, March 24th. (not the in and out of the hospital like today). Brandon's hearty appetite started early (and intensified with age) as they had to bring me two bottles in the hospital at feeding time. I had to start him on cereal at a very early age to satisfy his hunger. Brandon had big hands and big feet as a baby (he was born with a size 1 foot) and the nurses at the Dr's office would say he was all hands and feet. He grew like crazy but had these little skinny chicken legs for the longest time. They finally filled out but still seemed lost in comparison to his size 13 foot. Boy did those feet get in the way when trying to teach him to drive my little clutch car. We would jerk forward every time he went to shift because his foot was so big it hit the brake as well when he pushed in the clutch.

Being a single parent was not easy financially but I was so blessed. Brandon had to do without a lot growing up (and I will forever regret that I could not have given him more) but he never complained. On those special days when we would go to the store for a special treat and I would tell him to pick something out it took him forever. I would see him eyeing something big and say "How about that Brandon?" and he'd say "no mommy, that's too much money".

Brandon grew into a happy, healthy boy but would get bored easily. He always seemed to need to have something happening around him. I used to tease him that he needed a 3 ring circus around him all the time. But he did love anything that had to do with big trucks and construction vehicles and would play in the dirt for hours. It was no surprise that as an adult he loved those construction and heavy machine jobs the best.

Speaking of jobs - boy could he charm his way into a new job. Brandon never went on a job interview where he didn't land the job on the spot. He just had a way about him and people liked him instantly. I think a lot of that came from respect, Brandon was always respectful, even more so after the service, he gave it when it was earned but also expected it in return. He so hated when people would treat him with little or no respect just because he was young.

March 21, 1983

Brandon celebrating his 1st Birthday - He was always such a happy baby

March 22, 1983

Brandon's life on this earth was so very short, but in that short time he touched many lives and created many wonderful memories. I treasure those memories and hold them deep within my heart, but also want to share them, to tell the world all about my son. There are so many more pictures, stories and memories of Brandon's life and I will be adding them here soon, so Please check back often to learn about my loving son.

If you have a special memory or photo of Brandon you would like to share please email me as I would love to hear about your treasured memories of my Sweet Angel.

Brandon Tyler Beshada - Age 2

Please check back often as I will be adding many more stories and photos of Brandon through the years - while I want to share everything about him with everyone, please know that it is very difficult emotionally to put his life into words.

March 21, 2000

On his 18th Birthday Brandon enlisted in the service and served 2 years with the United States Army. He did his 4 months of Basic Training in Fort Benning, Georgia and then returned to Virginia where he served as a Pall Bearer with the United States Army's Elite Honor Guard in Fort Meyer. He was so very proud to have been chosen to serve on the Honor Guard - but no prouder than his Mom. Brandon had hoped, once he was healthy, to re-enlist in the service, as he felt it provided him with discipline he felt he needed in his life. Brandon was proud to have spoken the following words:

"The Infantryman's Creed"

I am the Infantry.
I am my country's strength in war.
her deterrent in peace.
I am the heart of the fightwherever, whenever.
I carry America's faith and honor against her enemies.

I am the Queen of Battle.

I am what my country expects me to bethe best trained solider in the world. In the race for victory I am swift, determined, and courageous, armed with a fierce will to win.

Never will I betray my country's trust. always I fight onthrough the foe, to the objective, to triumph over all, If necessary, I will fight to my death.

By my steadfast courage,
I have won 200 years of freedom.
I yield not to weakness,
to hunger,
to cowardice,
to fatigue,
to superior odds,
for I am mentally tough, physically strong,
and morally straight.

I forsake notmy country, my mission my comrades, my sacred duty.

I am relentless. I am always there,

now and forever. I AM THE INFANTRY! FOLLOW ME

Brandon graduated from the US Army's Infantry basic training program in Fort Benning Georgia. I hadn't seen him in four long months and was shaking with anticipation all throughout the ceremony. Finally I got to see him up close when they offered the parents or spouces to come forward to pin the Infantry Braid on ou Soldiers - I was crying and shaking so hard and Brandon had to help me. I didn't wat to embarass so I asked if I could give him a hug and he reached out and grabbed me for a big bear hug. He was so handsome in his uniform. After Graduation Brandon returned to the DC area as he had been chosen to serve his tour of duty as a member of the Us Army's Elite Honor Guard (also known as the Old Guard). Brandon served Proudly and with Honor as a Pall Bearer at Arlington Cemetary.

Brandon - What a handsome and loving young man he had become.

June 1, 2002

Brandon and I were known to act pretty goofy together. People used to say we sometimes acted more like brother and sister than mother and son - I loved that we were so close - truly best friends. On this day Jess R. and I painted Brandon's toe nails a pretty metalic purple. After we posed for this silly picture we wanted to remove the polish so we could go grocery shopping but Brandon chose to keep it on AND wear his flip-flops to the store. He walked throught he store talking in his high pitched 'girlie' voice. I used to tease him that it was scary how he could make his voice so high pitched. There were many times, like this day, that I laughed so hard I cried. Brandon could do that to me.

Brandon was so proud when he was asked to be Gabrielle Beshada's God-Father.

March 31, 2007

The night Brandon passed he asked me to walk him upstairs and put him to bed. He had been feeling strange, and after calling his Dr, and being told the meds were ok and he could reduce his dose the next day, he said, "Mom, can you walk me upstairs to bed?" He kinda caught himself after he said and it chuckled saying he was just kidding, that he was too old for that - but I walked him up just the same. It was 7 pm on Saturday night, March 31st. I helped him into bed and pulled the covers up to his chin. I said "I love you, please try to get some sleep". He said, "I love you too. Can you please check on me later?" I did check on him, all through the evening and again before I went to bed at 2am. The last time I checked on him I even sat on his bed beside him and put my hand on his heart to make sure it wasn't beating too fast. I put my hand on his forehead to make sure he wasn't too hot. He wasn't, but I got a warm washcloth and wiped his brow anyway. He seemed ok, he was finally resting after many sleepless nights in pain and was even snoring (although I wonder now if he wasn't having trouble breathing and I thought he was snoring - I have nightmares about that, about me not knowing - I can't stand the sound of snoring now even on TV). I left him alone (my sweet boy) and went to bed - when I woke at 7:45 am I instantly knew upon opening my eyes that something was wrong and I ran into his room. I noticed that he hadn't moved since I checked him last, as he sometimes did in his sleep. When I touched his forehead it was cold - That coldness will forever remain on the palm of my hand, as will the vision of my sweet Brandon lying there - he just looked like he was sleeping. The last time I heard my son's sweet voice was 7pm on March 31st when he said "I love you too. Can you please check on me later?" Little did I know that Jesus was reaching out to take my son home to Heaven.

April 1, 2007

Brandon Tyler Beshada was called home to God and received his Heavenly Angel wings on April 1, 2007.

Brandon passed at the young age of 25, just 10 days after his 25th birthday. My son was being treated for chronic pain as a result of a severed groin nerve suffered the year before in a 'routine' hernia operation. His workers comp insurance company kept denying approval for the surgery to hopefully repair him - even with letters from 7

Dr's and Specialists who said he would continue to suffer unless a 2nd surgery was performed. Unfortunately the attorney he had working on his case was of no help. Evidently there is a minimal payout for hernia's and Attorney's like the big money cases. My son had spent the weekend previous to his passing in the hospital being treated for the pain and dehydration - his pain would often get so intense he would vomit violently and end up getting dehydrated, resulting in numerous ER visits and some hospital stays to replenish fluids and try to lessen his pain. During his last hospital stay the Dr's had prescribed a new medication to treat his anxiety (after a year of being unable to do anything normal and losing everything and having to move back home with Mom who wouldn't be anxious). This medication was given in addition to the meds he was already taking. Brandon called his Dr the day before he passed and stated he was having some side affects to the new meds and the Dr told him to reduce his dosage the following day. At 7 pm Brandon asked me to walk him upstairs to bed (odd because he never asked me to do that but of course I did) and said please check on me later. I checked on him throughout the night and at 2 am before going to bed I went to his room and sat on his bed, he was asleep but I put my hand on his forehead to make sure he wasn't feverish and placed my hand over his heart to make sure it wasn't beating too fast, I took a washcloth and wiped his brow, said goodnight, I love you and went to bed. I awoke at 7:45 am and as soon as I opened my eyes I just knew something was wrong. I ran to his room and noticed that he hadn't changed positions since I'd checked on him at 2am. I ran to him and put my hand on his forehead and the coldness bore through me. I called 911 but it was too late. My precious son passed in his sleep on Psalm Sunday.

My son and I read all the info on drug interactions both from the pharmacy and from online sources and were assured by his Dr's that the combination was ok. After my son passed I did a very indepth search and found that one of the meds accelerates the metabolism of another he was on and should not be taken together unless closely monitored. We thought by calling the Dr that we did the right thing, had I known I would have taken him back to the hospital to have his med levels checked. I will forever feel guilty for not protecting my son.

I have found a very compassionate attorney to handle the Medical Malpractice and Wrongful Death case for my son - I know that will never bring my son home to me, but I feel that I have to go on to keep fighting Brandon's fight for him. To let insurance companies know they are to be held accountable when necessary treatment is denied. Had my son had the surgery there would have been no need to continue on the meds and he would still be here with me where I need him to be.
